COLDEST WAVE IN YEARS GRIPS ALL EUROPE

48 DEATHS ATTRIBUTED TO WEATHER

SHIPPING, RAILWAYS, TELEPHONE, TELEGRAPH SERVICE COMPLETELY DISRUPTED

POOR IN HUNGARIAN TOWN RUN TO STREETS BEGGING TO BE ARRESTED

London, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Intense suffering spread through Europe today as the coldest weather in years continued.

Forty-eight deaths attributed directly or indirectly to the weather were recorded during the last three days. Shipping, railways and telephone and telegraph service remained completely disrupted or seriously impaired in many parts of the continent.

Low temperatures and unheated homes drove the poor of Debrecen, Hungary, into the streets, begging to be arrested so they might keep warm.

A peasant arrived at the Cracow, Poland, city hospital with his wife and daughter bundled in a wagon suffering from influenza. He uncovered them and found they were frozen to death.

Railway workers near Breslau, Germany, donned ear muffs to protect themselves from frozen ears. Four were killed when they failed to hear a train approach.

The German battleships Schleswig-Holstein and Elsass returned to Kiel yesterday and reported they could do nothing further towards liberating ice-locked ships in the Baltic Sea. More than a hundred vessels were trapped when the sea froze during the week-end.

Warsaw reported temperatures of 47 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. The ground was frozen to such a depth burials were impossible.

Three children died from the cold in an unheated room in the village district of Lublinitz. Two persons were frozen to death in Berlin and three in Austria.

Thirty-four other lives were claimed by the cold Saturday and Sunday. In parts of Czechoslovakia the situation was most serious since it was impossible to distribute fuel. Frost snapped rails like straws. Trains were snowbound.

In Budweis, Czechoslovakia, the temperature was 41.8 below, the lowest since 1776, and readings of 22 below and lower were reported from other parts of the country, Hungary and the Balkans.

FRESH FLOWERS BEFORE PORTRAIT OF ABE LINCOLN

Copyright 1929 by United Press
Washington, Feb. 12.—There are fresh flowers before a huge portrait of Abraham Lincoln in the house on 10th street where the great president died after being shot in Ford's theater just across the street.

They were placed there today on the 120th anniversary of Lincoln's birth by Captain Osborn H. Oldroyd, 87-year-old civil war veteran, who has spent 70 years gathering the greatest collection of Lincoln relics in the world.

The strangest part of Oldroyd's collection is that it was gathered by a man, who although he lived in Lincoln's time, never had even a glimpse at the tall, lanky form of the great emancipator.

Captain Oldroyd was attracted to Lincoln by reading a few of his campaign speeches, before he became candidate for president.

"I was only a young newsboy then," the captain explained. "I said to myself, 'there is a man who will become great.' And so I started to save everything about him I could find."

Oldroyd's Lincoln collection, recently taken over by the government at a cost of $50,000, includes more than 3,000 intimate objects associated with the great president's life—a walnut rail which Lincoln split as a youth, his office furniture, his family bible, his family furniture, personal letters and photographs.

GOVERNMENT'S 1930 BUILDING PROGRAM OVER $46,000,000

Washington, Feb. 12.—(UP)—The government's 1930 public buildings program for projects totalling $46,760,500 of which $9,210,000 congress was asked to appropriate immediately was sent to the house today by President Coolidge.

Senate's Old Secrecy Rule Slated for Change

"I'M GLAD I DON'T LIVE IN MICHIGAN"—HINCH

Superior, Wis., Feb. 12.—(UP)—"I'm glad I don't live in Michigan," sighed Thomas J. Hinch as he was sentenced in federal court to serve one year in the Milwaukee house of correction for violation of the prohibition laws.

Hinch admitted he had been arrested 19 times by city and county authorities before being caught by federal officers.

In addition to the jail sentence he was fined $250 on four charges of possession of liquor.

HOOVER TRIP TO FISHING GROUNDS DELAYED

COOL, BLUSTERY WEATHER IS FRINGING WEST COAST

ON FRIDAY HE WILL INSPECT EVERGLADES ABOUT LAKE OKEECHOBEE

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 12.—(UP)—President-elect Hoover planned to return today to his headquarters at Miami Beach, abandoning his projected fishing expedition in the waters along the west coast because of a change to cool, blustery weather.

Mr. Hoover embarked late yesterday afternoon at the Edison dock here, after celebration of the inventor's eighty-second birthday anniversary, ready to try his hand at the tarpon in the inlets along the west coast. The decision to abandon the fishing trip was made when the weather changed.

Upon his return to Belle Isle, the president-elect will attend to some matters which have arisen since his departure Saturday. He will leave again Friday on another trip, through the everglades about Lake Okeechobee, where he will inspect the district devastated by the 1928 hurricane.

It will take the president-elect through the heart of the everglades district. He will see for himself what are the needs of that region for flood protection, for which Maj. General Edgar Jadwin, army engineer chief, has recommended appropriation of $10,740,000.

The president-elect and Mrs. Hoover thoroughly enjoyed their visit with the aged inventor yesterday.

It was a big day for the Edison. He took great pride in showing Mr. Hoover and his two friends, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, over the small plantation adjoining his estate where he is making his rubber experiments.

He predicted that cultivation of plants from which rubber may be secured may be possible on a large scale in the gulf states.

His busy day was closed with a brief talk over the radio last night in which he assured the American people that he still is hard at work at eighty-two.

MAY REVIVE AIMEE SEMPLER McPHERSON KIDNAPING CASE

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—(UP)—The possibility that the Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping case might be revived through the confession of Ben Getzoff, the "pay-off man" of the Asa Keyes conspiracies, drew fire from a state assembly committee today.

Members of the committee, now engaged in examining Mrs. McPherson's act in paying $2,500 to Superior Judge Carlos Hardy during 1926, the year of her asserted abduction, said if Mrs. McPherson was mentioned by Getzoff that the committee would go into the matter.

Impeachment proceedings against Judge Hardy now depend upon a report the committee will make to the assembly this month.

The committee conducted an open hearing to determine if the money paid the jurist was a "love offering," as Mrs. McPherson said, or an attorney's fee.

Judge Hardy violated the state code, it was said, if he took the money for legal advice rendered.

Minnesota Legislature Adjourns Today In Memory of the Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln

LARGE CITY SOLONS INTERESTED IN HIGHWAY BILLS

SENATE NAMES COMMITTEE OF 3 TO FIND EXTENT OF STATE HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE PLATE FACTORY MAY BE ESTABLISHED AT ST. CLOUD

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—Although the Minnesota legislature was adjourned today in memory of Abraham Lincoln, important projects were kept from cooling by the fires of committees.

In the brief session Monday night a committee of three was appointed to ascertain the extent of state highway improvements, ostensibly at the request of the three first class cities.

Solons from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth are anxious to have arterial thoroughfares in their cities included in the trunk highway system, a step made possible by law only after 75 per cent of the highways have been declared improved.

Lieutenant-Governor W. I. Nolan appointed to the committee Senators Widell, Mankato; Roepke, Faribault and Blanchard, Anoka. These three legislators may join with a similar committee in the house in efforts to learn the exact extent of improvements.

Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock repeatedly said that the highways are "not nearly 75 per cent improved" but legislators were apparently determined to learn the facts in the matter.

Another important project brought before the senate was a bill introduced by Senators J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud, and J. A. Carey, Plainview, which would provide $75,000 for the establishment of a new plant at the St. Cloud reformatory.

Automobile license plates, badges, road markers and similar products would be manufactured at the plant and the construction cost would be paid out of the profits under the provisions of the bill.

Members of the control board have approved the project and since there has been no objection raised in any quarter, it is believed the plant will be realized.

Interest for the remainder of the week will apparently be centered in committee meetings and will concern projects including reforestation, relief to tax burdened northern counties, cigarette tax bills and party designation bills.

Senator E. L. MacLean, Minneapolis, announced today that all persons interested in the designation bill were invited to attend a public hearing at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday.

Two measures expected to be discussed will be one which would provide for the election of legislative members by party designation and the other which would extend the non-partisan election law to include all elective officers save presidential electors, senators and representatives in congress.

Belize, British Honduras, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, on the last section of his return air mail flight from the Panama Canal Zone, started at 6:12 A. M. EST, today for Havana, en route to Miami.

Five minutes earlier, Lyman K. Merritt, who is accompanying northward with surplus mail which Lindbergh was unable to handle, had taken off in another plane.

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 12.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, flying the air mail north to Miami from the Canal Zone, was believed to be bucking a strong headwind over the Yucatan Channel this afternoon. Pan-American officials said there was a 25 mile headwind over that area.

A headwind of this velocity would slow the normal approximate speed of Lindbergh's plane from 100 miles an hour to about 75.

AGAINST PUTTING TEETH IN THE ANTI-WAR TREATY

REPUBLICAN LEADERS TURN THUMBS DOWN ON CAPPER RESOLUTION

LATTER WAS TO AUTHORIZE THE PRESIDENT TO PROCLAIM EMBARGOES AGAINST VIOLATORS

Washington, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Republican leaders of the present and near future, from the White House to Miami, have turned thumbs down on the Capper resolution proposing to "put teeth" in the Kellogg anti-war treaty by authorizing the president to proclaim embargoes against violators.

President Coolidge made known today he thought the measure too sweeping.

The republican authorities have traced the project to League of Nations advocates, they say. The original author of the proposal is alleged by them to be Prof. James T. Shotwell, who had the endorsement of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

Both Prof. Shotwell who was behind the anti-war treaty and Butler are described by republican authorities in the senate as being league advocates. Senator Capper denied there are any league affiliations involved in his plan.

The project for embargoes was first suggested by them last summer after Secretary of State Kellogg had negotiated his Paris treaty. It was submitted to authorities in Europe at that time and has since been running around international corridors unofficially.

Aside from the source of the proposal, republican leaders believe the resolution unfeasible and possibly unconstitutional. They say it would defeat the spirit of the Kellogg treaty because it would give the president authority to determine and name violators of the treaty.

COE COLLEGE MILITARY BAND IN INAUGURAL PARADE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 12.—(UP)—The Coe college military band of seventy pieces will accept the invitation to represent Iowa in the inaugural parade for President-elect Herbert Hoover in Washington on March 4, it was announced here. The band acted as the official Iowa band at West Branch when the president-elect visited the place of his birth last summer.

SUFFOCATES WHEN HE FALLS INTO GRAIN PIT

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Wallace W. Lewis, 62, was suffocated to death when he fell head first into a storage pit partly filled with grain at the Sterling Elevator company here. Lewis, an employee at the plant, was partially buried in the grain and was dead when found by fellow workers.

JURY UNDER GUARD IN DIAMOND CASE

GUS NICHOLS' SECOND $88,000 ROBBERY TRIAL UNDER WAY

COURT IN MINNEAPOLIS RECESSES TODAY OVER HOLIDAY

Minneapolis, Feb. 12.—(UP)—With the jury under guard in Gus Nichols' second $88,000 diamond robbery trial, court was recessed today over the holiday.

It became apparent Monday that the state will make an effort to convince the jury that the Kansas City police character was one of the bandit gang who held up and robbed a Chicago gem salesman here last October and that Frank "Bubbling Over" Devers, now under arrest at Duluth was another of the gang.

Miss Marie Merry, LeSueur Center, and Mrs. Katherine Dempsey, Minneapolis, testified yesterday that they had seen Devers in the St. Louis county jail at Duluth and they believed him to be one of the diamond robbers.

The state intimated that other witnesses would be called to testify that Nichols and Devers rented a cottage at Forest Lake together last summer.

Devers is already charged with mail robbery at Hibbing in 1926.

PURSUE OCEAN TRAIL BLAZED BY A DREAM

Boston, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Pursuing an ocean trail blazed by a dream, the luxuriously fitted yacht Peary steamed out of Boston harbor today bearing M. F. Bramley, Cleveland millionaire, in quest of a mystic island which he has seen only as a vision.

Manned by a crew of 19 able seamen, and carrying 10 guests, the Peary, which once saw service in the far north with Capt. Donald B. McMillan, is bound on one of the strangest missions in the modern history of the sea.

Cameras clicked and news reels spun as the trim little craft, holding the millionaire's hopes of finding a "dream island" somewhere off the Central American coast, put out into the sun-glazed waters of the harbor.

HOPED KINKY HAIR WOULD SAVE HIM FROM PENITENTIARY

Council Bluffs, Ia., Feb. 12.—(UP)—Jake Bird, giant Louisiana negro who hoped that his kinky hair would save him from prison, was sentenced to 30 years in prison today on conviction for an attack with a hatchet upon G. Harold Stribling.

Before passing sentence, Dist. Judge Earl Peters overruled a motion for a new trial and refused to postpone again his sentence. Richard J. Organ, attorney for Bird, asked for a postponement on the grounds that he had new evidence that would acquit Bird.

NOMINATIONS OF FUTURE IN OPEN SESSION

EFFORT FOR REFORM FOLLOWS U. P. PUBLICATION OF SECRET BALLOT

LATTER WAS TAKEN ON THE NOMINATION OF ROY WEST

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 12.—The 158-year-old secrecy rule of the senate is scheduled for a change today so all future nominations may be considered in open sessions unless a majority want the doors closed.

The effort for reform, which followed publication by the United Press of the entire secret ballot on the nomination of Roy O. West as secretary of interior, was sidetracked at first by republican leaders. They said privately they did not want to change the rule now for fear it would embarrass President-elect Hoover whose cabinet is soon to be considered.

Word has now come from Hoover that he is willing for his cabinet to be considered in open session, so the leaders are preparing to make the change.

The secrecy system of the senate was born with the republic. For the first six years the senate considered all its business behind closed doors.

The system was kept because the senate felt it did not represent the people. Its members were elected by state legislatures until 20 years ago and it felt it represented the states and was not responsible to the people.

The leaders are preparing to accept one of three resolutions which have been prepared, the Jones resolution providing the senate may vote by a majority in closed session whether it will have a closed session on nominations; the Robinson resolution providing a majority may force open sessions on either nominations or treaties; and the Georgia resolution providing the senate must vote in the open to go into executive session by a majority vote.

Meanwhile representatives of both houses interested in the recent Wall Street slump today were waiting word from the federal reserve board in answer to the Heflin resolution, adopted yesterday, calling for suggestions as to what legislation can be enacted to stop illegitimate speculation.

The Capper resolution, proposing that the president be empowered to place an arms embargo against any nation violating the Kellogg anti-war treaty, received a greater reception in the press than it did in congress. There was no discussion concerning it and there is no hope that it will be considered before congress adjourns.

SOME AMATEUR MAY HAVE TRIED DISTRESS SHIP HOAX

New York, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Nothing further has been heard today concerning an SOS call which caused suspension of broadcasting from radio stations along the Atlantic seaboard for 30 minutes last night.

Eight hours after the distress signal was heard at the Radio Marine corporation no explanation was forthcoming. It was believed a ship near Europe might have sent out the call, or that some amateur had attempted a hoax.

CHARGE OFFICIAL WITH DRIVING CAR TOO FAST

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Herman C. Wenzel, commissioner of public safety, may upon occasion have driven his motor car at a speed greater than that conducive to the safety of the general public. A jury in Ramsey county district court awarded E. W. Carlson $700 as damages for an automobile crash in a suit against Wenzel. Carlson testified the safety commissioner was driving too speedily.

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 12.—The 158-year-old secrecy rule of the senate is scheduled for a change today so all future nominations may be considered in open sessions unless a majority want the doors closed.

The effort for reform, which followed publication by the United Press of the entire secret ballot on the nomination of Roy O. West as secretary of interior, was sidetracked at first by republican leaders. They said privately they did not want to change the rule now for fear it would embarrass President-elect Hoover whose cabinet is soon to be considered.

Word has now come from Hoover that he is willing for his cabinet to be considered in open session, so the leaders are preparing to make the change.

The secrecy system of the senate was born with the republic. For the first six years the senate considered all its business behind closed doors.

The system was kept because the senate felt it did not represent the people. Its members were elected by state legislatures until 20 years ago and it felt it represented the states and was not responsible to the people.

The leaders are preparing to accept one of three resolutions which have been prepared, the Jones resolution providing the senate may vote by a majority in closed session whether it will have a closed session on nominations; the Robinson resolution providing a majority may force open sessions on either nominations or treaties, and the Georgia resolution providing the senate must vote in the open to go into executive session by a majority vote.

Meanwhile representatives of both houses interested in the recent Wall Street slump today were waiting word from the federal reserve board in answer to the Heflin resolution, adopted yesterday, calling for suggestions as to what legislation can be enacted to stop illegitimate speculation.

The Capper resolution, proposing that the president be empowered to place an arms embargo against any nation violating the Kellogg anti-war treaty, received a greater reception in the press than it did in congress. There was no discussion concerning it and there is no hope that it will be considered before congress adjourns.

SOME AMATEUR

MAY HAVE TRIED DISTRESS SHIP HOAX

New York, Feb. 12.—(U.P.)—Nothing further has been heard today concerning an SOS call which caused suspension of broadcasting from radio stations along the Atlantic seaboard for 30 minutes last night.

Eight hours after the distress signal was heard at the Radio Marine corporation no explanation was forthcoming. It was believed a ship near Europe might have sent out the call, or that some amateur had attempted a hoax.

CHARGE OFFICIAL

WITH DRIVING CAR TOO FAST

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—(U.P.)—Herman C. Wenzel, commissioner of public safety, may upon occasion have driven his motor car at a speed greater than that conducive to the safety of the general public. A jury in Ramsey county district court awarded E. W. Carlson $700 as damages for an automobile crash in a suit against Wenzel. Carlson testified the safety commissioner was driving too speedily.

A letter from A. R. Kenyon states that he is quite sick in Minneapolis. He will not be able to be home for several days. For a few days some anxieties were felt over Mr. Kenyon. He left town and placed no one in charge of the store and it has been closed since Saturday night. He states he will return as soon as he is able to travel.

Dr. J. A. Thabes was called out to Long Lake in the middle of the night last night. With the mercury dancing around the 36 degrees below zero point, the ride was anything but a pleasant one.

Attorney L. E. Lum left for his home in Duluth this afternoon after transacting business in the city for a few days.

Sheriff O. P. Erickson left today for St. Paul where he will attend a state meeting of sheriffs. P. N. Heller is about to take charge of the Laurel Steam Laundry delivery wagon. Congressman Eddy passed through the city today en route to Duluth where he is booked to speak before the Garfield Republican club this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Webb will entertain the Pinocle club on Saturday evening at their home on Holly street. It will be in the form of a valentine party.

The pound social at Mr. and Mrs. H. Lathrops on Broadway North last night by the Epworth League for the benefit of some poor people was well attended and those present received a big share of fun in return.

February 12, 1904

Mrs. Chas. Rose left this afternoon for St. Paul where she will attend the D. of H. convention. Mrs. H. Theviot, the other delegate chosen, will leave tomorrow for St. Paul.

Miss Rose Poppenberg has been taken to St. Joseph's hospital and tomorrow an operation will be performed for appendicitis.

Frank Lowey is home from the university to spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowey.

Calude Woodley and wife have bought out the cigar and confectionery store at 414 Front street, next to the Antlers. They will try and please customers who will favor them with a call.

Attorney M. E. Ryan went north yesterday on legal business, returning this noon.

President LaBar of the First National bank has returned from Minneapolis.

Prof. Gleason returned to his home in Minneapolis this afternoon.

D. K. Fullerton has returned from a business trip to St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Donahue were made happy this morning by the arrival of a ten pound boy at their home on North Ninth street.

Leaps to Death

Three hours after she had been brought home from the hospital where she had been recuperating from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Anthony Fokker, wife of Anthony H. G. Fokker, airplane builder and inventor, leaped to her death from the fifteenth floor of their apartment in New York.

CENTRAL SCOUT AREA ENLARGED

MAKES FOR BETTER SCOUTING

Population in Area Totals 235,000 People; General Program is Outlined

The Central Minnesota Council, Boy Scouts of America has been considerably enlarged since January 1, 1929. It now comprises Aitkin, Benton, half of Cass and Hubbard, Crow Wing, Mille Laacs, Morrison, Sherburne, Stearns, Todd, Wadena and the north end of Wright counties. In all it covers approximately 12,000 square miles, with a population of about 235,000 people. There are 30 towns with populations totalling 31,000, and six cities with 26,000, and one with 23,000 leaving approximately 138,000 in rural population. With this in mind rural scouting is to be one of the main objectives of the Council's activities.

Council Officers
The new Council will have its headquarters in St. Cloud, with several cities known as "administrative centers" throughout the area. Such cities as Brainerd, Crosby-Ironton, Aitkin, Staples, Little Falls, Monticello, and Sauk Centre, possibly others. The officers of the Council for 1929 are:

President—C. S. Olds, St. Cloud.
First Vice President—W. J. Bohmer, St. Cloud.

Second Vice President—W. J. Ran, St. Cloud.

Third Vice President—Sam Adair, Brainerd.

Fourth Vice President—Wm. Dennerly, Aitkin.

Fifth Vice President—J. L. Cross, Staples.

Treasurer—Victor Fandel, St. Cloud.

Commissioner—N. M. Ahles, St. Cloud.

Under the enlarged council system every city having budget representation in the Council will have a district chairman who will be known as a vice president and be a member of the executive board of the area.

Better Scout Service
This consolidation will cut some of the overhead of both councils, and with an executive to direct and an assistant executive to be in the field most of the time, the contacts with troops and communities will be immensely increased. The present executive, C. W. Armstrong will continue as area executive and will be assisted by S. C. Bakken, who will be available for the entire area with possible headquarters in Brainerd. A central office will be maintained in St. Cloud and all records will pass through this headquarters. Miss Eileen Moritz will be in charge of records and registrations.

Some Great Stunts in Prospect
During the coming months many things of interest to Scouts will take place in central Minnesota. These various Scout gatherings will keep the boys busy and create an interest in Scouting to a greater extent than it now is.

Here are some of the doings:

Feb. 18—Father and Son dinner at Monticello.

Feb. 22—Washington's birthday parties. Troops throughout the entire area should celebrate that evening with Father and Son dinners, parent parties, stunt nights or a pilgrimage to some place of historical interest.

March 1 to 31—Advancement month for the entire area. Every scout advance a rank.

March 12—Father and sons banquet for St. Cloud scouts at Breen hotel. Junior scouts can also go to this party.

March 22 to 30—Spring camps at Nawakwa on Big Spunk Lake and Clearwater on Clearwater Lake. Scouts must register for these camps.

April 1 to 30—District roundups will be held in preparation for the final in St. Cloud in early part of May.

May 3—Area roundup at the Armory in St. Cloud. Troops welcome from all over the area. The competition stunts will be put on by district winners. The demonstrations by troops that will be present.

June 16—Camp starts.

Area Troop News
Troop 18 and 25 turned out en masse at a recent fire in Sauk Centre and yeoman service, as guards, removing goods, from the building and in handling hose. It was a fine job and was very favorably commented upon by people of the community.

Troop 1 of Aitkin, had a fine dinner given them last Friday evening at the Methodist church. Field Executive S. C. Bakken attended this function. There was plenty of pep plus plenty to eat.

Troop 14 of Paynesville have been cleaning up the town of all their old paper. They also plan on being at the big District Court of Honor on Monday evening.

Troop 12 of Becker are perfecting their rural scout work, if the number of farm merit badge applications is any indication of their work. They are also working out the plans for rural patrol extension as soon as the roads are clear.

Troop 1 will hereafter have as their scoutmaster, Dr. Vincent Schaeffer, who has been their assistant scoutmaster for sometime.

Troop 1 and 2 of Staples will hold their Court of Honor on Wednesday Feb. 13. This will be one of several courts during anniversary week at the north end of the area. Scout Executive C. W. Armstrong plans on attending this Court of Honor.

Troop 34 of Sartell is becoming amphibian as they are planning an afternoon series of swim tests in the near future at Tech pool.

To Minneapolis Court
N. M. Ahles the newly elected Court of Honor chairman for St. Cloud district attended the Anniversary Court of Honor in Minneapolis Sunday afternoon. Mr. Ahles has already outlined many plans to improve and enlarge the St. Cloud Scout Courts of Honor during the coming year. He wanted to view one of the Minneapolis Courts to get some idea of their system and procedure.

Spring Camp
There will be a Spring Camp held at Camp Nawakwa from March 25 to 30. This will be open to about 24 boys as that is all that can be accommodated. The fee will be small and some of the food supplies will be brought by the boys themselves.

There will be a regular scout program and advancement can be readily made. The boys intending to go to this camp should register at once.

Sea Scout Program
One of the most interesting phases of the scout program is the sea scout work for older scouts. This program gives a boy the chance to study ships, how to build them, and operate them. It teaches him nautical terms, how to read charts and to navigate.

To be a sea scout a boy must be a boy scout 15 years of age. He must pledge himself to the sea promise, this being the promise of the "Cabin Boy," his next step is that of "apprentice seaman," and from there to the rank of "ordinary seaman." He should know how to swim and will be taught advanced work in the water.

The first sea scout ship has applied for charter. It will be known as the "North Star" in command of Skipper Jack Welch formerly scoutmaster of Troop 1. The sea scout committee will sponsor the ship and they are composed of Allen A. Atwood, portmaster, Thos A. Donlin, and Leonard H. Rice.

This scout ship will be known as No. 61 and her crew are: Fred W.

The mobilization of the Brainerd boy scouts last Saturday at 8 P. M. proved very successful for short notice gathering. Seventy-five scouts assembled in a period of 15 minutes after the call was issued. Scoutmaster Ericson of Lions club troop No. 6 was in charge of the mobilization. The demonstration showed real preparedness on the part of the scouts to assemble on such short notice. After the scouts had assembled a splendid program of scout games and instruction followed. A similar mobilization took place in the other sections of the area. It is estimated that over 75 per cent of the scouts were mobilized throughout the districts of the area.

A big Wall-Ga-Zu or Jamboree featured the celebration on the Range last Saturday afternoon and evening. Games and scouting featured the afternoon activities followed by a splendid bean supper given by the officers of the Range district. Following supper the main events were run off, events consisting of knot tying, signaling, bugling, drill and inspection, and fire by friction. Troop No. 2 of Crosby won the first pennant for their evenings work. Troop 2 Ironton won second place with troop 1 Crosby coming in third.

All the records of troops in the Central Minnesota Area are kept on a troop rating chart and these are compiled from reports sent in every month, personal visits and inspections, scout advancement, participation in scout activities, and good turns, attendance at camp, hikes, and outdoor activities, and general attendance. At the end of the year these records are checked up and suitable awards are made to several troops at the end of 1928 it was found to be Troop 30 of Monticello.

To this troop will go the first honor streamer, the blue ribbon troop. They have made an enviable record, and on a point system scored a total of 916.

Grace M. Hay Drummond Hay
Lady Grace Drummond Hay, only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin.

"The fact that we were not permitted to smoke from the time the Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen until we landed at Lakehurst only increased my appetite for a Lucky Strike. Oh, how good that first one tasted! I'm really keen for Lucky Strike—the toasted flavor is delightful. I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets—that's what many men have been doing for years. I think it high time we women smoked Luckies and kept our figures trim."

GRACE M. HAY DRUMMOND HAY

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Some Great Stunts in Prospect
During the coming months many things of interest to Scouts will take place in central Minnesota. These various Scout gatherings will keep the boys busy and create an interest in Scouting to a greater extent than it now is.

Here are some of the doings:

Feb. 18—Father and Son dinner at Monticello.
Feb. 22—Washington's birthday parties. Troops throughout the entire area should celebrate that evening with Father and Son dinners, parent parties, stunt nights or a pilgrimage to some place of historical interest.

March 1 to 31—Advancement month for the entire area. Every scout advance a rank.

March 12—Father and sons banquet for St. Cloud scouts at Breen hotel. Junior scouts can also go to this party.

March 22 to 30—Spring camps at Nawakwa on Big Spunk Lake and Clearwater on Clearwater Lake. Scouts must register for these camps.

April 1 to 30—District roundups will be held in preparation for the final in St. Cloud in early part of May.

May 3—Area roundup at the Armory in St. Cloud. Troops welcome from all over the area. The competition stunts will be put on by district winners. The demonstrations by troops that will be present.

Area Troop News

Troop 18 and 25 turned out en masse at a recent fire in Sauk Centre and yeoman service, as guards, removing goods, from the building and in handling hose. It was a fine job and was very favorably commented upon by people of the community.

Troop 1 of Aitkin, had a fine dinner given them last Friday evening at the Methodist church. Field Executive S. C. Bakken attended this function. There was plenty of pep plus plenty to eat.

Troop 14 of Paynesville have been cleaning up the town of all their oil paper. They also plan on being at the big District Court of Honor on Monday evening.

Troop 12 of Becker are perfecting their rural scout work, if the number of farm merit badge applications is any indication of their work. They are also working out the plans for rural patrol extension as soon as the roads are clear.

Troop 1 will hereafter have as their scoutmaster, Dr. Vincent Schaeffer, who has been their assistant scoutmaster for sometime.

Troop 1 and 2 of Staples will hold their Court of Honor on Wednesday Feb. 13. This will be one of several courts during anniversary week at the north end of the area. Scout Executive C. W. Armstrong plans on attending this Court of Honor.

Troop 34 of Sartell is becoming amphibian as they are planning an afternoon series of swim tests in the near future at Tech pool.

To Minneapolis Court

N. M. Ahles the newly elected Court of Honor chairman for St. Cloud district attended the Anniversary Court of Honor in Minneapolis Sunday afternoon. Mr. Ahles has already outlined many plans to improve and enlarge the St. Cloud Scout Courts of Honor during the coming year. He wanted to view one of the Minneapolis Courts to get some idea of their system and procedure.

Spring Camp

There will be a Spring Camp held at Camp Nawakwa from March 25 to 30. This will be open to about 24 boys as that is all that can be accommodated. The fee will be small and some of the food supplies will be brought by the boys themselves. There will be a regular scout program and advancement can be readily made. The boys intending to go to this camp should register at once.

Sea Scout Program

One of the most interesting phases of the scout program is the sea scout work for older scouts. This program gives a boy the chance to study ships, how to build them, and operate them. It teaches him nautical terms, how to read charts and to navigate.

To be a sea scout a boy must be a boy scout 15 years of age. He must pledge himself to the sea promise, this being the promise of the "Cabin Boy," his next step is that of "apprentice seaman," and from there to the rank of "ordinary seaman." He should know how to swim and will be taught advanced work in the water.

The first sea scout ship has applied for charter. It will be known as the "North Star" in command of Skipper Jack Welch formerly scoutmaster of Troop 1. The sea scout committee will sponsor the ship and they are composed of Allen A. Atwood, portmaster, Thos. A. Donlin, and Leonard H. Rice.

This scout ship will be known as No. 61 and her crew are: Fred W.

The mobilization of the Brainerd boy scouts last Saturday at 8 P. M. proved very successful for short notice gathering. Seventy-five scouts assembled in a period of 15 minutes after the call was issued. Scoutmaster Ericson of Lions club troop No. 6 was in charge of the mobilization. The demonstration showed real preparedness on the part of the scouts to assemble on such short notice. After the scouts had assembled a splendid program of scout games and instruction followed. A similar mobilization took place in the other sections of the area. It is estimated that over 75 per cent of the scouts were mobilized throughout the districts of the area.

A big Wall-Ga-Zu or Jamboree featured the celebration on the Range last Saturday afternoon and evening. Games and scouting featured the afternoon activities followed by a splendid bean supper given by the officers of the Range district. Following supper the main events were run off, events consisting of knot tying, signaling, bugling, drill and inspection, and fire by friction. Troop No. 2 of Crosby won the first pennant for their evening work. Troop 2 Ironton won second place with troop 1 Crosby coming in third.

All the records of troops in the Central Minnesota Area are kept on a troop rating chart and these are compiled from reports sent in every month, personal visits and inspections, scout advancement, participation in scout activities, and good turns, attendance at camp, hikes, and outdoor activities, and general attendance. At the end of the year these records are checked up and suitable awards are made to several troops at the end of 1928 it was found to be Troop 30 of Monticello. To this troop will go the first honor streamer, the blue ribbon troop. They have made an enviable record and on a point system scored a total of 916.

Esther Ralston in the Paramount Picture "The Case of Lena Smith"

"The Case of Lena Smith," now playing at the Lyceum is something no one should miss under any circumstances. It is a story of mother-love in the Josef von Sternberg manner. It has the same marks of the master that made "Underworld," "The Last Command," "The Drag Net" and "The Docks of New York" four of the outstanding pictures in the past decade.

Grace M. Hay Drummond Hay
Lady Grace Drummond Hay, only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin.

"The fact that we were not permitted to smoke from the time the Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen until we landed at Lakehurst only increased my appetite for a Lucky Strike. Oh, how good that first one tasted! I'm really keen for Lucky Strike—the toasted flavor is delightful. I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets—that's what many men have been doing for years. I think it high time we women smoked Luckies and kept our figures trim."

GRACE M. HAY DRUMMOND HAY

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

WHEN SHOP REMOVALS ARE CONTEMPLATED

A BILL of interest to every railway shop town and that includes Brainerd as well as Austin, Albert Lea, Bemidji, Breckenridge, Barnesville, Brown Valley, Crookston, Currie, Carlton, Cass Lake, Dilworth, and a score of other places, is that known as Senate File No. 295 introduced by Senators Naplin, Christgau, Peterson, Lemm, Lawson and McCubrey for the Senate, and House File No. 397 by Representatives Samec, Lewer, Kernan, Gilbertson, Wahlstrand, Erickson, Atwood, Day, Pederson and Melby for the House covering the removal of railroad terminals and shops within the state.

The bill is definite and plain. It requires an application to the Railroad and Warehouse Commission for such contemplated removal of terminals or shops. The Commission is required to order a public hearing at which the citizens of such city or village may be heard and upon presentation of evidence of substantial public injury the application will be denied.

The Railroad Brotherhoods' State Legislative Board of Minnesota declares: "Our personal interest in the bill is to protect our homes. As an instance, we cite the case of Melrose, Minn. Many of the employees of the Great Northern railroad at that place lost their homes almost totally. In many cases rent was given free to comply with insurance policies covering occupancy."

"As representatives and as public spirited men of your respective communities, you will readily see the havoc and ruin that would come to you if your city were to lose your shops or terminals. The railroad pay roll, the employees trade, their vacant homes, the stagnated businesses, the whole economic structure of the city thrown out of gear from which it would take years to recover and perhaps never."

THE CHALLENGE OF LINCOLN

IN the sixty-four years that have elapsed since the death of Lincoln, an enormous number of words has been written about his life and work. He has undoubtedly inspired more biographical effort than any other President.

Yet Lincoln remains a man of mystery. The anniversary of his birth is universally observed in this nation in recognition of his greatness as a very human being as well as a statesman. His accomplishments are emblazoned upon the pages of history, with their imprint indelible upon the nation, for everyone to see and understand. But all his deeds and all the books about him do not explain Lincoln. The biographers do not conceal that his character eludes them.

Because Lincoln, the man, so challenges study, his life will wield greater influence upon the thought of this and future generations. His obscure origin, the rugged adventures of his youth, his rise over all obstacles, and the enduring quality of his greatness invite and stimulate interest in him. But there is no limit to the opportunity for study of this man. In Lincoln, America has a hero whose life may be endlessly explored for new qualities, undiscovered combinations of common and uncommon traits, new challenges to interest and admiration. To have such a hero is a rare privilege for any people.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

THE MUD RETREATS

BURIED in the election returns were four items of more significance in the promotion of American welfare than any single issue debated in the national campaign, says Collier's Weekly.

They told of the victory of a $30,000,000 state highway bond issue in Louisiana, a $100,000,000 issue in Iowa, a $35,000,000 issue in West Virginia and of Missouri's decision to increase her road building debt by $75,000,000. Part of Iowa's issue is to take over county road debts.

Back of this cheerful, hard-headed spending is the feeling that the country is about to win its lifelong struggle against mud, spring thaws, floods, in season and out, fall rains—these, not Indians, were the pioneer's arch enemies.

They held him mudbound from his markets. He fought back in fair weather. But he improved his transportation. Wagon conquest of the mud was not motor conquest. So the battle went on until he discovered hard surfaced freedom. Now victory is in sight, not only the triumph over mud, but more confirmation of the theory that this country can always find the money to fight itself out of economic bondage.

FIRST TOURIST IN TOWN

YESTERDAY the first bonafide tourist of the season of 1929 came to town. He got a shave and haircut and tonic at the Stallman barbershop and when he was through, he remarked to a barber: "You wouldn't mind telling the boss that's one of the best haircuts I ever got in Brainerd."

While the barber worked on him, he kept up a constant flow of talk on the Brainerd lake region, how he liked the country, and that he was up here to take a look at his cottage and grounds.

When the barbers were questioned as to the tourist's name and location, they said it was impossible to get in a word, that every minute had been preempted by the tourist in giving his impressions of the wonderful lake country we have here.

Well, if all our friends spread the merits of this country as this tourist did, we shall have a tremendous rush heading here this summer.

BRAINERD MUSICAL CLUB

WE are glad to see the interest taken in the Brainerd Musical club and to note that the recent home talent program drew a near-capacity audience.

The club is a factor in the encouragement of musical talent, in sponsoring the best in music and art and thus to improve the musical taste of the community.

In spite of the opposition of the radio, Brainerd can ill afford to lose such a worthy and public spirited club as the Brainerd Musical club which in a quarter century of history has done its share, not alone in the field of music but in many other things of civic value.

LOCAL DECLAMATION CONTEST

HELD AT SCHOOL ON MONDAY

ZANE SMITH, HELENE MARIE
STADLBAUER, MILDRED
PRENTICE WIN

The students of Brainerd High were informed yesterday afternoon that there would be no seventh period classes on account of the presentation of the annual local declamation contest in order to pick contestants for the sub-district and district declamatory meets. At the end of the sixth period the students who had the necessary dime and the desire to hear the speeches and selections were admitted to the Court House assembly. An improvised platform was erected for the speakers to stand upon and after a short delay in waiting for the judges to appear, the contest began.

The first speaker in the oratorical section was Rose Olmstead who gave the speech "In Honor of Our Heroic Dead." He was followed by Zane Smith who had chosen "Return America" for his selection. Zane Smith won first place by a very close vote.

Evelyn Grinstead in the dramatic section gave "Straight as a String." Bernice Steinfeldt gave "Engineer Connor's Son" and Helen Marie Stadlbauer "White Hands of Telam." Helen Marie took first place with her selection.

In the humorous division Mildred Prentice recited "The School Program" and Helen Bane gave "China Blue Eyes," both of which were exceedingly funny and well given.

Mildred Prentice was awarded the first place in that section.

The contest was very ably judged by Dr. A. K. Cohen, Mrs. J. A. Thabes and D. H. Fuleron.

The money taken in amounted to about twenty dollars and about two hundred students were present at the occasion.

The school has shown its appreciation of these contests in the past by a large turn-out at every meet and we hope that many more will be present at the sub-district contest next Thursday at the old Court House.

SOCH LATINI TO

HAVE SONGS, YELLS

Wednesday evening, February 6th, the Soci Latini met in the Old Court House for a combination social, business meeting. Latin-American songs and yells will be turned in at the next meeting by members.

The question of collecting for the annual was discussed. Many suggestions were made and the members finally decided to have a penny box placed in Miss O'Brien's room for all the Soci Latini's excess pennies.

After the business meeting different games were played using the Latin tongue in place of English.

A delicious lunch was served in Miss Graham's room consisting of pear salad, sandwiches and cocoa.

The purpose of the Latin Club is not only for amusement, as many people suppose, but also educational and to promote interest in the Latin language.

At the meetings various English questions which concern the Roman tongue are discussed.

Here and There

Old Court House students were especially fortunate today when they heard Mrs. C. L. Burnett read the delightful patriotic short story, "The Fleet Goes By," at the Lincoln's Birthday program given this afternoon. Mrs. Burnett pleased the students very much; this program will be an outstanding one in their memories because of her presence. Full details will be given next week.

Mary Hawkins and Carl Holvick have certainly been extremely busy persons today. This noon they appeared at the Rotarian luncheon, then they dashed over to the city hall to put on their little act. Breathlessly, they came to the old court house after all this and performed in a very creditable manner. The rehearsals that they had were of benefit, of course, but Mary and Carl would have acted splendidly anyway.

Lyle M: "Did you hear about Smith having an eye removed?"
Joe M: "No! How did it happen?"
Lyle M: "By changing his name to Smythe."

THE FACULTY

New Hampton, Iowa, is the site of Aletha M. Herwig's birth. Ever since she was able to walk Miss Herwig has had a craving for knowledge. It was so great that when she was four years old she ran away from home in order to attend school. At Canby, Minnesota, where she attended high school, there were very few outside activities but she got into all of them, even into an impromptu girls' football team.

She graduated in a class of 25 with an honor average and a deep-rooted desire to become a teacher. In fact, it seemed to her at that time that the greatest thing in life was to be a high school teacher.

After an elementary course in teaching at the St. Cloud Teachers' College, she taught in the grades during the winter months, went to summer school and did newspaper work during the summers so that she might eventually gain that coveted degree from the University. After some years of doing everything from teaching English to instructing a glee club, she enrolled for a regular year at the University of Minnesota and graduated with distinction in the class of 1923.

Her hobbies are writing special articles for large newspapers, reading and advising the Brainonian staff. We hope that she will find Brainerd interesting and profitable enough to remain here a long time.

FRESHMEN FROLIC
AT WINTRY OUTING

The members of the Freshmen class gathered at the Old Court House on Friday evening last and took advantage of the wonderful winter's night to frolic in the frosty air.

They all "piled" into hay covered sleighs drawn by prancing horses and cruised town and countryside, over snow-covered hill and dale, in royal state.

Upon returning to the Court House the frolicing Fresh were welcomed by the food committee who had prepared a delicious lunch to satisfy the keen appetites which the outing aroused.

The rest of the evening was spent in playing games until the "first streaks of dawn" sent them scurrying home, tired but happy, with memories of another successful school party.

Editor's Note—We hasten to inform the editor of Hiwadena that the winning essay in the contest sponsored recently by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs was written by our own William McClenahan, Brainerd high school student. His essay, "One of Ten Thousand," was considered to be the best submitted and the $100 is safely reposing in the bank in his name.

Please excuse us, Miss Johnson, for calling your attention to this, but we could not overlook it. Pardonable pride in the achievement of one of our fellow students is a thing you can understand, we are sure.

CURRENT PROBLEMS
TO BE SOLVED AT Y

Should anyone desire to find panaceas for all the world's ills or discover the best solutions for current problems, he should attend the Hi-Y meetings which are always held on Wednesday evenings at the Y.M.C.A.

Roger Kleven, Richard Ebert and Zane Smith were appointed at the last meeting to discuss a number of problems of world wide interest next Thursday. This, however, is not all, for Mr. Peterson explained the purpose and the details of the coming Tri-Hi party to which many of the boys had been invited. Thus recreation is combined with serious efforts in this senior boy's organization.

Carl Holvick, Joe Heald and Lyle Greger were also appointed to make arrangements for a Father and Son's Banquet to be held the twenty-fifth of February. Details will be worked out by next week and more information can be given in the next Brainonian.

Arline H: "My brother has a leading part in that drama."
Helen Ross: "What part?"
Arline: "He leads a horse across the stage in the last act!"

YE EDITOR

Tonight at 8:15 the curtain will rise on the most important activity of the school year, the Class Play—the most important because of the fun and the memories that it affords; because the returns make possible all the other events in the senior year.

The play this year is "The Youngest" by Philip Barry. It is an exceptionally clever play and will be played cleverly. It promises interesting entertainment for the evening. Hurry along now or you will not get a seat. None are reserved and they cost but fifty cents.

In the upper left hand corner, an announcement, written in red chalk and stating the fact that second semester book-rent is due, screams at us, and we recognize our dear principal's writing. Below this, two notices of lost books are to be seen. Across the entire top is another plea for Sophomore dues (petitions similar to this can be found any place throughout the building) and below that, two more notices of lost books and a request for all members of the Semper Paratus Club to be present at a meeting to be held sometime this week. In another corner, LeRoy Wyatt, William Knutson and Lyle Mayo have placed their signatures. Tacked at irregular intervals over the surface are three gloves, none of them alike in size, color or texture. What? Oh, I'm sure I don't need to explain what I'm talking about. Everybody has often noticed the blackboard in front of the assembly.

MEMORIES

There comes a time in the life of every Brainerd high school student when he has a moment or two of diversion in which he can lay aside his books and, seeking out some quiet corner away from the mad bustling of busy students as they rush to and from one building to another striving to keep up with the great turmoil of every day school life, can turn over at will in his lessor burdened mind, thoughts which have been popping up from time to time—beautiful memories of by-gone school days.

The angel of Pleasant Dreams appears unto him and, drawing aside the curtain of the past, reveals to him in the dazzling brilliance of the early morning sun light—our old high school in all its glory. He sees again the throngs of happy students strolling up and down her famous old halls, laughing and talking together of things that once were near and dear to him. It recalls memories of joyous classes within her walls, of picnics and programs and parties given in honor of her name; visions of a crowded gymnasium where men spurred on by the spirit of our old high, fought for the glory of her name.

These visions faded away and as dusk spread her dark mantle over all, its deep folds covering each nook and crevice of the countryside, and passed on her way leaving it shrouded in darkness, the great harvest moon slowly lifted itself from the far eastern horizon and bathed all the sleeping city with its soft mellow light.

The dream again sees the old building standing in broad relief against the star-specked sky with its magnificent spires streaking upward in dark silhouette against the full moon whose soft rays outlined it with gold.

But such peace cannot always be, and as a dark cloud settled over the silent picture, the dream awakes on the vision of the ruins of our beloved school lying smoldering in the fires of cruel Fate flashed across his mind and he realizes that it was no more.

A new school is now under construction and will be ready by next September. It is to be a larger, more beautiful and finer building than ever before; it will be completely modern and up-to-date in every way. It is to take the place of our old school and to outclass it altogether. But no matter how much is said and done, we know that the old school can never be forgotten. Its memories are with us yet vivid than ever, and as years go by and we become old and gray, we shall still have the pleasant memories, and we shall never quite forget the by-gone days at dear old Brainerd high.

THE FACULTY

Some short time ago the city of Buxton, North Dakota, was honored by the birth of Miss Minnie Haug. The whole town was not so large as the B. H. S. and offered few opportunities to the high school students but the few it did present were promptly followed up by ambitious Minnie. In fact she got into every extra curricular activity except the football squad and she graduated with an average that was among the three highest. This might have been because there were but three people in her class, but it is more probable that it was a result of her earnest efforts. She had always wanted to become a nurse but she changed her mind and went to the U. of N. D. for an English teaching course. While at the U., she pledged a sorority, the Delta Zeta, and became an active member.

She completed her education at St. Olaf where she did very good work both in studies and in girls' athletics. After teaching three years in Bemidji she came to Brainerd and became a member of the English staff. Her hobbies include all the outdoor sports, especially the winter ones, and the Campfire Girls. We hope that Miss Haug enjoys many more winters in Brainerd and that she also enjoys teaching here well enough to remain as an instructor.

CLASS PLAY TO BE PRESENTED TONIGHT

As nearly everyone knows, the Senior class play, "The Youngest," is to be presented tonight at 8:15, in the Park Theatre.

The play is an extremely clever and original one. As Miss Tornstrom says, it is "different." Philip Barry's characters are noted for being remarkably natural, true to life, and we find them particularly so in this play. Under experienced coaching, the performers have developed individuality, poise and a lack of self-consciousness to a degree remarkable for amateurs.

The play deals with the doings of a typical modern family, and many of us could profitably act upon some of the helpful hints appearing in this little story, to straighten out some of our own similar difficulties. This particular family, with the exception of the unfortunate youngest son, is absorbed in the welfare of their pin-factory. Throughout the whole play this "youngest" is endeavoring to express his own individuality, refusing to be pressed into the family mould. As the play draws to a happy close, he finally succeeds, aided somewhat by his sister, but mostly by his bride-to-be.

It will be very much worth your while to attend this performance, and we advise you to make an early start as the house will undoubtedly be packed.

JUNIOR HI-Y TAKES UP LIFE OF CHRIST

Escalloped potatoes, meat balls, buttered buns and ice cream formed the menu of the Junior Hi-Y Thursday evening in the assembly rooms of the Y. M. C. A. with a one hundred per cent attendance.

Immediately after the supper the business part of the meeting was taken up. Plans were made to constitute a basketball team to compete with various other teams of the city. The meeting concluded with a short talk on the Life of Christ the study theme of the club at the present time.

No half-year credit will be given to any Modern History B student who doesn't comply with one of the following requirements: write a two-thousand-five hundred word theme, make a diagram, or make a poster with drawings of the evolution of any industry in which they are especially interested. Some of the topics to be considered are: the progress of aviation, of glass smelting, of transportation, of weaving, of spinning, of Antarctic or Arctic expeditions, and of house building, of architecture, and of other public buildings. This work is to be completed and handed in any time between now and the close of the second semester. The advisor is looking forward to some very clever results.

LOCALS TRIUMPH OVER PINE
RIVER, 29-15; DOWN
BEMIDJI 16-15

Converting guards into forwards seemed to change the fortunes of the Brainerd basket shooters in the last two games which were played this past week. Brainerd won from Pine River Friday by a score of 29 to 15, and defeated Bemidji Tuesday, 16-15. With three regulars declared ineligible the day before the Bemidji game, Coach Kasch was at a loss to know who should fill the forward positions. The line-up which took the floor at the start of the Bemidji tilt was somewhat of a surprise to the fans. Instead of Swanson and Wise as forwards, Fuller and Hautala, both former guards, took charge of these stations. Geist and Foster as guards and Paine at the center position completed the five. This combination seemed imbued with a new spirit and the fight which they displayed showed that they were the rightful victors. Hautala was the outstanding player in this game if any can be mentioned as such.

In the Pine River contest, the same five again took the floor and again showed up even better than at Bemidji, since they had the advantage of a few days of practice. Hautala, Fuller and Geist teamed up for most of Brainerd's points.

Next Friday B. H. S. plays Crosby-Branton and as everyone knows the C-I-Brainerd games furnish about as much excitement as the average fan can stand. The student body is urged to be there to cheer on the team. The boys have found their pep and it is now the rooters' part to help them keep it.

FRENCH CLUB USES
FRENCH IN MEETS

Conversation in the French language is one of the features of each meeting of the French Club, which convenes subject to the call of the President or the adviser. The social programs are naturally enjoyed by all the members but the educational side proves to be the most interesting and oftentimes the most amusing. Occasionally, modern language teachers are accused of not providing means of conversation but such is not the case in the Brainerd high school for class work is augmented by the efforts of this extra-curricular organization.

The French Club has had two meetings in the past semester, one of which was concerned with the initiation of the French I students. The hilarity which a passer-by might hear when the club is in session is due primarily to the speeches of the members.

WHEN SHOP REMOVALS ARE CONTEMPLATED

A BILL of interest to every railway shop town and that includes Brainerd as well as Austin, Albert Lea, Bemidji, Breckenridge, Barnesville, Brown Valley, Crookston, Currie, Carlton, Cass Lake, Dilworth, and a score of other places, is that known as Senate File No. 295 introduced by Senators Naplin, Christgau, Peterson, Lemm, Lawson and McCubrey for the Senate, and House File No. 397 by Representatives Samec, Lever, Kernan, Gilbertson, Wahlstrand, Erickson, Atwood, Day, Pederson and Melby for the House covering the removal of railroad terminals and shops within the state.

The bill is definite and plain. It requires an application to the Railroad and Warehouse Commission for such contemplated removal of terminals or shops. The Commission is required to order a public hearing at which the citizens of such city or village may be heard and upon presentation of evidence of substantial public injury the application will be denied.

The Railroad Brotherhoods' State Legislative Board of Minnesota declares: "Our personal interest in the bill is to protect our homes. As an instance, we cite the case of Melrose, Minn. Many of the employees of the Great Northern railroad at that place lost their homes almost totally. In many cases rent was given free to comply with insurance policies covering occupancy.

"As representatives and as public spirited men of your respective communities, you will readily see the havoc and ruin that would come to you if your city were to lose your shops or terminals. The railroad pay roll, the employees' trade, their vacant homes, the stagnated businesses, the whole economic structure of the city thrown out of gear from which it would take years to recover and perhaps never."

THE CHALLENGE OF LINCOLN

IN the sixty-four years that have elapsed since the death of Lincoln, an enormous number of words has been written about his life and work. He has undoubtedly inspired more biographical effort than any other President.

Yet Lincoln remains a man of mystery. The anniversary of his birth is universally observed in this nation in recognition of his greatness as a very human being as well as a statesman. His accomplishments are emblazoned upon the pages of history, with their imprint indelible upon the nation, for everyone to see and understand. But all his deeds and all the books about him do not explain Lincoln. The biographers do not conceal that his character eludes them.

Because Lincoln, the man, so challenges study, his life will wield greater influence upon the thought of this and future generations. His obscure origin, the rugged adventures of his youth, his rise over all obstacles, and the enduring quality of his greatness invite and stimulate interest in him. But there is no limit to the opportunity for study of this man. In Lincoln, America has a hero whose life may be endlessly explored for new qualities, undiscovered combinations of common and uncommon traits, new challenges to interest and admiration. To have such a hero is a rare privilege for any people.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

THE MUD RETREATS

BURIED in the election returns were four items of more significance in the promotion of American welfare than any single issue debated in the national campaign, says Collier's Weekly.

They told of the victory of a $30,000,000 state highway bond issue in Louisiana, a $100,000,000 issue in Iowa, a $35,000,000 issue in West Virginia and of Missouri's decision to increase her road building debt by $75,000,000. Part of Iowa's issue is to take over county road debts.

Back of this cheerful, hard-headed spending is the feeling that the country is about to win its lifelong struggle against mud, spring thaws, floods, in season and out, fall rains—these, not Indians, were the pioneer's arch enemies.

They held him mudbound from his markets. He fought back in fair weather. But he improved his transportation. Wagon conquest of the mud was not motor conquest. So the battle went on until he discovered hard surfaced freedom. Now victory is in sight, not only the triumph over mud, but more confirmation of the theory that this country can always find the money to fight itself out of economic bondage.

FIRST TOURIST IN TOWN

YESTERDAY the first bonafide tourist of the season of 1929 came to town. He got a shave and haircut and tonic at the Stallman barbershop and when he was through, he remarked to a barber: "You wouldn't mind telling the boss that's one of the best haircuts I ever got in Brainerd."

While the barber worked on him, he kept up a constant flow of talk on the Brainerd lake region, how he liked the country, and that he was up here to take a look at his cottage and grounds.

When the barbers were questioned as to the tourist's name and location, they said it was impossible to get in a word, that every minute had been preempted by the tourist in giving his impressions of the wonderful lake country we have here.

Well, if all our friends spread the merits of this country as this tourist did, we shall have a tremendous rush heading here this summer.

BRAINERD MUSICAL CLUB

WE are glad to see the interest taken in the Brainerd Musical club and to note that the recent home talent program drew a near-capacity audience.

The club is a factor in the encouragement of musical talent, in sponsoring the best in music and art and thus to improve the musical taste of the community.

In spite of the opposition of the radio, Brainerd can ill afford to lose such a worthy and public spirited club as the Brainerd Musical club which in a quarter century of history has done its share, not alone in the field of music but in many other things of civic value.

LOCAL DECLAMATION CONTEST

HELD AT SCHOOL ON MONDAY

ZANE SMITH, HELENE MARIE STADLBAUER, MILDRED PRENTICE WIN

The students of Brainerd High were informed yesterday afternoon that there would be no seventh period classes on account of the presentation of the annual local elimination contest in order to pick contestants for the sub-district and district declamatory meets. At the end of the sixth period the students who had the necessary time and the desire to hear the speeches and selections were admitted to the Court House assembly. An improvised platform was erected for the speakers to stand upon and after a short delay in waiting for the judges to appear, the contest began.

The first speaker in the oratorical section was Ross Olmstead who gave the speech "In Honor of Our Heroic Dead." He was followed by Zane Smith who had chosen "Return America" for his selection. Zane Smith won first place by a very close vote.

Evelyn Grimstad in the dramatic section gave "Straight as a String." Bernice Steinfeldt gave "Engineer Connor's Son" and Helen Marie Stadlbauer "White Hands of Telam." Helen Marie took first place with her selection.

In the humorous division Mildred Prentice recited "The School Program" and Helen Bane gave "China Blue Eyes," both of which were exceedingly funny and well given.

Mildred Prentice was awarded the first place in that section.

The contest was very ably judged by Dr. A. K. Cohen, Mrs. J. A. Thabes and D. H. Fuberton.

The money taken in amounted to about twenty dollars and about two hundred students were present at the occasion.

The school has shown its appreciation of these contests in the past by a large turn-out at every meet and we hope that many more will be present at the sub-district contest next Thursday at the old Court House.

SOCHI LATINI TO

HAVE SONGS, YELLS

Wednesday evening, February 6th, the Sochi Latini met in the Old Court House for a combination social, business meeting, Latin-American songs and yells will be turned in at the next meeting by members.

The question of collecting for the annual was discussed. Many suggestions were made and the members finally decided to have a penny box placed in Miss O'Brien's room for all the Sochi Latini's excess pennies.

After the business meeting different games were played using the Latin tongue in place of English.

A delicious lunch was served in Miss Graham's room consisting of pear salad, sandwiches and cocoa.

The purpose of the Latin Club is not only for amusement, as many people suppose, but also educational and to promote interest in the Latin language.

At the meetings various English questions which concern the Roman tongue are discussed.

Here and There

Old Court House students were especially fortunate today when they heard Mrs. C. L. Burnett read the delightful patriotic short story, "The Fleet Goes By," at the Lincoln's Birthday program given this afternoon. Mrs. Burnett pleased the students very much; this program will be an outstanding one in their memories because of her presence. Full details will be given next week.

Mary Hawkins and Carl Holvick have certainly been extremely busy persons today. This noon they appeared at the Rotarian luncheon, then they dashed over to the city hall to put on their little act. Breathlessly, they came to the old court house after all this and performed in a very creditable manner. The rehearsals that they had were of benefit, of course, but Mary and Carl would have acted splendidly anyway.

Lyle M.: "Did you hear about Smith having an eye removed?"
Joe M.: "No! How did it happen?"
Lyle M.: "By changing his name to Smythe."

THE FACULTY

New Hampton, Iowa, is the site of Aletha M. Herwig's birth. Ever since she was able to walk Miss Herwig has had a craving for knowledge. It was so great that when she was four years old she ran away from home in order to attend school. At Canby, Minnesota, where she attended high school, there were very few outside activities but she got into all of them, even into an impromptu girls' football team.

She graduated in a class of 25 with an honor average and a deep-rooted desire to become a teacher. In fact, it seemed to her at that time that the greatest thing in life was to be a high school teacher.

After an elementary course in teaching at the St. Cloud Teachers' College, she taught in the grades during the winter months, went to summer school and did newspaper work during the summers so that she might eventually gain that coveted degree from the University. After some years of doing everything from teaching English to instructing a glee club, she enrolled for a regular year at the University of Minnesota and graduated with distinction in the class of 1928.

Her hobbies are writing special articles for large newspapers, reading and advising the Brainerdian staff. We hope that she will find Brainerd interesting and profitable enough to remain here a long time.

FRESHMEN FROLIC

AT WINTRY OUTING

The members of the Freshmen class gathered at the Old Court House on Friday evening last and took advantage of the wonderful winter's night to frolic in the frosty air.

They all "piled" into hay covered sleighs drawn by prancing horses and cruised town and countryside, over snow-covered hill and dale, in royal state.

Upon returning to the Court House the frolicing Fresh were welcomed by the food committee who had prepared a delicious lunch to satisfy the keen appetites which the outing aroused.

The rest of the evening was spent in playing games until the "first streaks of dawn" sent them scurrying home, tired but happy, with memories of another successful school party.

Editor's Note—We hasten to inform the editor of Hiwadena that the winning essay in the contest sponsored recently by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs was written by our own William McLenahan, Brainerd high school student. His essay, "One of Ten Thousand," was considered to be the best submitted and the $100 is safely reposing in the bank in his name.

Please excuse us, Miss Johnson, for calling your attention to this, but we could not overlook it. Pardonable pride in the achievement of one of our fellow students is a thing you can understand, we are sure.

CURRENT PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED AT Y

Should anyone desire to find panaceas for all the world's ills or discover the best solutions for current problems, he should attend the Hi-Y meetings which are always held on Wednesday evenings at the Y.M.C.A.

Roger Kleven, Richard Ebert and Zane Smith were appointed at the last meeting to discuss a number of problems of world wide interest next Thursday. This, however is not all, for Mr. Peterson explained the purpose and the details of the coming Tri-Hi party to which many of the boys had been invited. This recreation is combined with serious efforts in this senior boys' organization.

Carl Holvick, Joe Heald and Lyle Greger were also appointed to make arrangements for a Father and Son's Banquet to be held the twenty-fifth of February. Details will be worked out by next week and more information can be given in the next Brainerdian.

Arline H.: "My brother has a leading part in that drama."
Helen Ross: "What part?"
Arline: "He leads a horse across the stage in the last act!"

YE EDITOR

Tonight at 8:15 the curtain will rise on the most important activity of the school year, the Class Play—the most important because of the fun and the memories that it affords; because the returns make possible all the other events in the senior year.

The play this year is "The Youngest" by Philip Barry. It is an exceptionally clever play and will be played cleverly. It promises interesting entertainment for the evening. Hurry along now or you will not get a seat. None are reserved and they cost but fifty cents.

In the upper left hand corner, an announcement, written in red chalk and stating the fact that second semester book-rent is due, screams at us, and we recognize our dear principal's writing. Below this, two notices of lost books are to be seen. Across the entire top is another plea for Sophomore dues (petitions similar to this can be found any place throughout the building) and below that, two more notices of lost books and a request for all members of the Semper Paratus Club to be present at a meeting to be held sometime this week. In another corner, LeRoy Wyatt, William Knutson and Lyle Mayo have placed their signatures. Tacked at irregular intervals over the surface are three gloves, none of them alike in size, color or texture. What? Oh, I'm sure I don't need to explain what I'm talking about. Everybody has often noticed the blackboard in front of the assembly.

MEMORIES

There comes a time in the life of every Brainerd high school student when he has a moment or two of diversion in which he can lay aside his books and, seeking out some quiet corner away from the mad bustling of busy students as they rush to and fro from one building to another striving to keep up with the great turmoil of every day school life, can turn over at will in his lesson burdened mind, thoughts which have been popping up from time to time—beautiful memories of by-gone school days.

The angel of Pleasant Dreams appears unto him and, drawing aside the curtain of the past, reveals to him in the dazzling brilliance of the early morning sun light—our old high school in all its glory. He sees again the throngs of happy students strolling up and down her famous old halls, laughing and talking together of things that once were near and dear to him. PROMINENT LUTHERAN PASTOR DIES HERE

HELD OFFICE 20 YEARS

Was World Wide Traveller, Author and Editor of Church Publications

Martin Saterlie, retired Lutheran minister, secretary of foreign missions of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America for 20 years, a world-wide traveller, author, and editor, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Brainerd hospital following a heart attack.

Rev. Saterlie was born September 21, 1857 in Norway and came to the United States 63 years ago. Following his retirement he resided at Pillager for the past three years with his wife and son, Arthur Saterlie, superintendent of Pillager schools.

Following his graduation at Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, Rev. Saterlie filled a pastorate at Osakis, Minn., for ten years.

Through his high qualifications as a minister, Rev. Saterlie was elected secretary of foreign missions of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America. In the fulfillment of his duties he made a world wide tour in 1914 and six years ago was sent to China.

Rev. Saterlie was author of three publications, one in the Norwegian language and contributed largely to Lutheran literature in his duties as editor of the Missions Department of the Lutheran Herald, official publication of the Norwegian Lutheran church.

Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Arthur Saterlie, of Pillager, and O. M. Saterlie, Rhode Island.

The body will be shipped from Brainerd to Osakis for burial this week.

GOVERNOR OPENS MUSKRAT SEASON

Trapping to be Allowed From March 1 to 10 Under Executive's Order

Governor Theodore Christianson has signed an order for an open season on muskrat in Minnesota from March 1 to March 10 upon recommendation of George W. McCullough, state game and fish commissioner.

The ten day season will be opened at noon, March 1, and closed at noon March 10, the order stated.

Following a survey of the state relative to the number of muskrats, Commissioner McCullough felt that the situation warranted having an open season and made this recommendation to the governor. An open season of the year was permitted last year.

Commissioner McCullough states that an open season early in March would be more favorable than later in the year because of the fact that the animals are not breeding at that time and their fur is of better quality. Fewer muskrats would also be caught, he stated, as not as many would be out making it harder for trappers to catch the animals.

A survey of the state made by Mr. McCullough in which questionnaires were sent out to all the wardens, resulted in 50 per cent of the wardens advocating an open season, 25 per cent a closed season, and about 25 per cent advocating having a very limited open season. For the most part all recommended the month of March, from the first to the tenth, according to the Game and Fish Commissioner.

Every effort will be put forth, he states, to see that the men who trap the rat houses seal up these houses in order that the muskrats may not freeze out while using these as their habitats.

SCOUT TROOP NO. 3 CAPTURES PENNANT

Wins Court of Honor Award by Decisive Margin; Troop Backed 100 Per Cent

33 SCOUTS ENROLLED

Boys Awarded 29 Merit Badges; 12 Graduate to Second Class

Troop No. 3 of Northeast Brainerd captured the Troop Honor Pennant at the last Court of Honor by a decisive margin. They had a lead of 234 points over their nearest rivals. A real surprise was in store for everyone present at the Court of Honor to see the splendid demonstration of troop backing displayed by the citizens of Northeast Brainerd. Supporters of Troop 3, over 200 strong, showed decisively that they were back of the troop 100 per cent.

Credit is due Scoutmaster Milton Anders and the troop committee under the leadership of Hugo Kaatz for this remarkable demonstration of troop efficiency. The real test will come in the troop's ability to sustain its fine efforts and retain the banner for another term.

Troop No. 3 reorganized last November. Then began a period of remarkable growth, the enrollment increasing to 33 scouts. The troop took home with them at the last Court of Honor 12 new second class scouts and 29 merit badges, a splendid achievement.

The scouts of N. E. are always willing to render any service to Northeast or the city when called upon.

The troop wishes to extend its hearty thanks for the splendid support given by parents and friends.

VETERAN REPORTER GREET'S RARE BIRD

G. E. Morrison Sees Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, Tells of Drought in Rabbits

COVERED TITANIC DISASTER

Tells Story of Novel Method Used by Farmers in Killing Wolves

A story concerning an Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, which in itself is a good yarn, brought out a still better newspaper story by an interview with the informant, a veteran newspaper reporter, city editor, sports writer and United Press correspondent.

G. E. Morrison, of Minneapolis who is living this winter in a cottage on Lake Hubert preferring the winter in the lake region to the city at any time of the year has a "nose" for news. He has always had it and will always have it.

This morning he dropped in at the Dispatch office to tell the "boys" of a little story concerning a woodpecker which has been flying around the Lake Hubert region.

That woodpecker was more than a woodpecker as Mr. Morrison explained. It was an Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, a bird rare in the United States, a bird which has been seen by only a few.

"I saw such a bird back in the Adirondacks one year," said Morrison, "and recognized it from others I had seen in New York and Chicago woods. The Ivory billed woodpecker is the rarest and shyest of birds. I doubt if an average of one person in 100,000 has seen it outside of captivity. The bird has a long bill resembling polished ivory, red head, and is about 18 inches from the bill to the tip of its tail."

"Do you find news hard to get in the winter time?" questioned Mr. Morrison. "You know I am familiar with newspaper work. I was city editor of the Minneapolis Tribune 20 years ago."

And thereby hangs another tale.

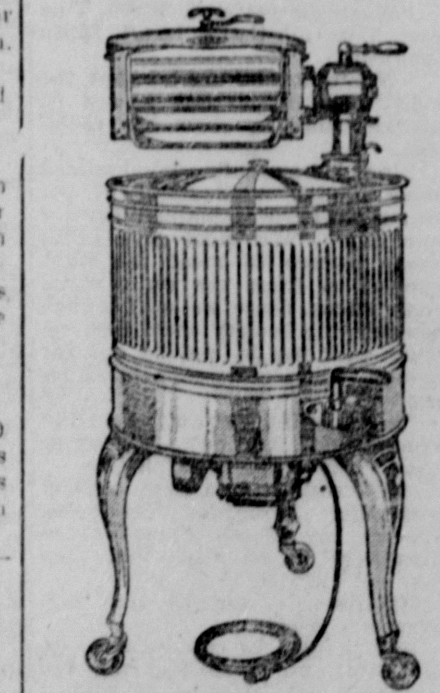

Mr. Morrison covered the Titanic disaster for a New York paper and scooped the world on news from the first survivors to reach New York.

"I reached the rescue boat Carpathia through a hole in the pier and got to the survivors before dozens of other reporters on the dock," said Mr. Morrison without enthusiasm.

To attempt to enumerate the number of "scoops" Mr. Morrison has accomplished would fill a book.

Member of a dozen press clubs throughout the United States, Mr. Morrison has seen this country through the eyes of a capable newspaper man. Some of the clubs are: The Pen and Pencil club of Cleveland.

"Do you know 'boys' that many tourists come to this lake region in the winter time. They like it just as well as in the summer time," continued Mr. Morrison as he conversed about the Brainerd area.

"I heard a good story yesterday of a novel way a farmer has of killing wolves. This man has the frame of an old airplane equipped with an engine and ski runners. He spreads lure (meat) at different sections of the lake and when the wolves come on the lake he chases them and shoots them," Mr. Morrison revealed.

VETERAN REPORTER GREET'S RARE BIRD

G. E. Morrison Sees Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, Tells of Drought in Rabbits

COVERED TITANIC DISASTER

Tells Story of Novel Method Used by Farmers in Killing Wolves

A story concerning and Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, which in itself is a good yarn, brought out a still better newspaper story by an interview with the informant, a veteran newspaper reporter, city editor, sports writer and United Press correspondent.

G. E. Morrison, of Minneapolis who is living this winter in a cottage on Lake Hubert preferring the winter in the lake region to the city at any time of the year has a "nose" for news. He has always had it and will always have it.

This morning he dropped in at the Dispatch office to tell the "boys" of a little story concerning a woodpecker which has been flying around the Lake Hubert region.

That woodpecker was more than a woodpecker as Mr. Morrison explained. It was an Ivory Billed Pileated Woodpecker, a bird which has been seen only a few.

"I saw such a bird back in the Adirondacks one year," said Morrison, "and recognized it from others I had seen in New York and Chicago woods. The Ivory billed woodpecker is the rarest and shyest of birds. I doubt if an average of one person in 100,000 has seen it outside of captivity. The bird has a long bill resembling polished ivory, red head, and is about 18 inches from the bill to the tip of its tail."

"Do you find news hard to get in the winter time?" questioned Mr. Morrison. "You know I am familiar with newspaper work. I was city editor of the Minneapolis Tribune 20 years ago."

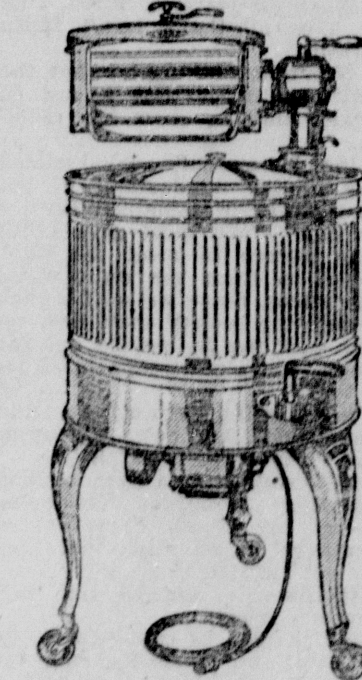

And thereby hangs another tale. Mr. Morrison covered the Titanic disaster for a New York paper and scooped the world on news from the first survivors to reach New York.

"I reached the rescue boat Carpathia through a hole in the pier and got to the survivors before dozens of other reporters on the dock," said Mr. Morrison without enthusiasm.

To attempt to enumerate the number of "scoops" Mr. Morrison has accomplished would fill a book.

Member of a dozen press clubs throughout the United States, Mr. Morrison has seen this country through the eyes of a capable newspaper man. Some of the clubs are: The Pen and Pencil club of Cleveland.

DEXTER "SPEEDEX"

10 BIG DEXTER ADVANTAGES

1. Faster, cleaner washing due to combination of Dexter high-speed "turbulator" and rounded bottom tub.

"Do you know 'boys' that many tourists come to this lake region in the winter time. They like it just as well as in the summer time," continued Mr. Morrison as he conversed about the Brainerd area.

"I heard a good story yesterday of a novel way a farmer has of killing wolves. This man has the frame of an old airplane equipped with an engine and ski runners. He spreads lure (meat) at different sections of the lake and when the wolves come on the lake he chases them and shoots them," Mr. Morrison revealed.

MICHIGAN, PURDUE, WISCONSIN INTO THE

LOOM POSSIBLE WINNERS OF THE BIG TEN TITLE

NORTHWESTERN, ENIGMA OF THIS YEAR'S RACE, DEFEATS MICHIGAN, 24 TO 23

WINS BY FINAL DRIVE, ALMOST AS FINAL GUN IS SOUNDED

By BERT DEMBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Three teams—Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin—stood out today as possible winners of this year's Big Ten basketball championship.

The three went into a tie for the conference lead when Northwestern, enigma of this year's race, won from the undefeated Michigan team—24 to 23—last night.

The defeat dropped the Wolverines to a five-games-won-and-one-lost standing, the same mark held by both Purdue and Wisconsin.

Michigan appeared to be the better team last night but Northwestern, which has upset predictions in practically every game this year, won by a last minute drive, almost as the final gun sounded.

In the other conference game last night, Illinois won up a notch in the standings by defeating Minnesota, 35-32. The Illini clearly was the better team.

Purdue probably has the hardest job on its hands Saturday. The Boilermakers come to Northwestern and the kind of basketball the Wildcats are playing will make trouble for any team.

Wisconsin meets Indiana, and barring the unforeseen, should win.

Michigan should experience little trouble in trouncing Minnesota. The Gophers have not won any of six starts.

Big Ten standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Michigan	5	1	.833
Purdue	5	1	.833
Wisconsin	5	1	.833
Iowa	4	2	.667
Ohio	3	3	.500
Northwestern	4	3	.571
Illinois	4	3	.571
Indiana	2	5	.286
Minnesota	0	5	.000
Chicago	0	7	.000

COCHRAN TIES MATSUYAMA FOR LEADERSHIP

New York, Feb. 12.—(U.P.)—Welker Cochran and Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan were tied for the leadership in the world 152 ball-line billiard tournament today with three victories and one defeat each.

Cochran defeated Matsuyama last night, 400 to 373 in one of the closest matches of the tournament. The match went nineteen innings with Matsuyama making the high run of 122 in the seventh. Tonight Matsuyama will meet Jake Schaefer. Tomorrow night Cochran and Schaefer will play. A play-off match will decide the championship in event of a tie.

GAMES START

AT Y. M. C. A.

5 SENIOR TEAMS REPRESENT 5 CHURCHES OF THE CITY OF BRAINERD

The Church Athletic League which has been playing at the Y. M. C. A. for several years past, opened this winter's schedule of basketball games last night.

Five senior teams representing Bethlehem Lutheran, Evangelical, Methodist, Bethlehem Lutheran, Presbyterian and Lutheran, are in the senior class. Twenty-two games will be played, each team playing the other twice.

At the end of this series, three intermediate teams representing the Baptist, Methodist and Evangelical will play for places in the league. Seniors are boys 15 years of age and under.

Boyd and Foster were referees for last night's games. Church League games held Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.:

Impatient Griselda by Dorothy Scarborough

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

IRENE ROBELINE married Guinn Holden, young and handsome Texas minister, shortly after Lillith, his first wife, died, leaving an infant Lillith. Irene, secretly in love with Guinn, had seen him practically snatched away by the beautiful blonde and coquettish Lillith, who had boasted of her ability to make Guinn propose to her. Instead of the love that Irene expected to enjoy to complete her happiness, she found always the unseen barrier of the dead Lillith haunting Holden's mind and enthroned in his heart. He spoiled the child, granting her every wish and fancy. Even when Tina, who grows up a dark-eyed, lovely child, sweet and thoughtful, but conscious of her secondary position to the beautiful Lillith in her father's heart, Irene ponders this poignant problem that has persisted during the years of marriage to Holden. Even Rose and Lundy, the boys, and little Patricia, the youngest, were similarly regarded by their father. How to supplant this "golden ghost" of the glorious dead Lillith was made doubly difficult because of the grown-up Lillith, who had not only her mother's beauty, but greater intellect to support her selfish desires and strengthen her hold on her father's affection. Graduated from college, Lillith tells her father she wishes to study voice in New York. Tina, too, wants to pursue an art course. "Lillith is the older," the father would reply when Irene remonstrated. Tina, however, was the favorite of Will Lundy, town doctor, who had been in love with Irene. Tina, hurt when Lillith doesn't want her at Roger Devereux's house party, returns to Summer school.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVII. LILLITH spent the Summer and Autumn in a succession of visits to college mates, and house parties that strained the pastor's purse for new clothes. "Girls have to have fashions, I guess," Guinn sighed one day to Irene at an unusual demand. "Yes, it's great to have grown daughters, but it costs," Irene told him. "Every debt makes me dearer," jested Lillith. Sheba rattled the breakfast dishes resentfully. "Miss Lily she is costly! When Miss Tina givine to have her chancet?" "When I'm married, Sheba, Tina can have all that's left," Lillith laughed. "Won't be nothing left but the rind!" Sheba smashed a cup (a cracked one) to show her rebellion. Since his masculine mind missed some of the implications of the situation, Irene explained further one day. "We must give Lillith every chance to meet the right people, to form the right social connections. Since we can't launch her into the society she'd like, we must back her in looking out for herself. She's quite capable of doing that."

"When will a girl quit racketing around and settle down to stay at home?" he asked hopefully. She crinkled her eyes at him with her humorous frankness. "Never, my dear. Parents send daughters off on visits that they may get married." His paternal sensitiveness registered a shock. But the checks continued to go to Lillith, and in consequence the remittances to Justine at college were smaller than the child needed. The clothes that she wore in her senior year were almost wholly made-over discards from Lillith's wardrobe, too good for a thrifty housewife like Irene to throw away, but not matching Tina's dark coloring as they had Lillith's blonde beauty. But Lillith must dress like a rainbow now in order to attract all available suitors from whom she might make her choice. Tina was patient and her time would come later, her mother told herself.

Lillith came home a week before Christmas with a diamond and platinum ring. "I'm engaged to Roger Devereux," she announced to her family. Guinn's face showed the panic of emotion that he felt. "He's a fine fellow," he faltered. "But of course you're too young to think of marrying any time soon!" His heart was wrenched with jealous pain. To think that his Lillith was eager to leave him and go off with another man! A young nincompoop that wouldn't half appreciate her.

He circled her with his arms, to hold her tight forever. If he could only run away with her to the end of the world—outwit, fight back, all those selfish, presuming young men! "I'm a doddering old fool," he told himself, as he blew his nose fiercely to hide his tears. Irene kissed Lillith with an on-Cradle Ball, and the charity manbers of the church probably thought she was all right—but why, why had Father married her?

Lillith called up the picture of her own mother, as she knew it from photographs from what others had told her, from her father's ardent descriptions. She saw that lovely, alluring young face, with its mischief, its coquette, its charm. Oh, why did her beautiful mother have to marry a preacher?... But if her mother hadn't married her father, she, Lillith Holden, would have never existed. The miracle of her own personality, not to be exchanged for any other, would not have been. Life was strange.

Like a living presence, vivid and compelling, the image of the other Lillith rose before Guinn's eyes, too. He gazed at his daughter, and in the rainbow of his tears he saw her mother. He saw the witchery of her wooing; she held out hands to him as on that day in the study, and cried, "Don't you know I love you? Why are you so cruel to me?"

He saw her flushed and evasive on their bridal night; he glimpsed her young face contorted in the agony of death, and beheld it calm again and lovely as marble, shut away from him forever under the coffin lid. Don't you love me a little?... The years between; not even the grave could divorce them. He passed a trembling hand across his forehead.

Irene, with the clairvoyance of a woman who passionately loves, saw Lillith, too, as Guinn saw her, knew every thrill of wild grief that he felt. Each ardent memory of his was like a burning wound in her heart.

The shabby little room throbbed with passion and pain. Irene's spirit fought that memory as her hands would have fought back a physical force. The very heart of her life was in danger, the integrity of her marriage, for that undivorced look on Guinn's face made him the husband of the dead Lillith, while she herself was an outcast, the children she had borne to him forgotten.

That night as Guinn dreamed alone by his study fire, the young Lillith came in and sat on a footstool beside him. As she laid her yellow head against his knee, his hands, still shaken by death's memories, caressed her hair with nervous tenderness.

"To think that my baby is old enough to be married and go away from me," he mourned. "And one of these days they'll be putting your first baby in my arms!" She lifted her face, cool and composed in the firelight. "I don't know about that, Father. It isn't agreeable to think of dying, maybe, as my mother did in that way."

The hand on her head quivered. "No, God forbid!" The silence pulsed with pain as he thought of the past while she faced the uncertainties of the future.

"Do you love him, my daughter?" he asked. "Enough, I suppose, I'm not sentimental, you know." "Yes, I know," he muttered, his thoughts twenty years away from her.

Irene came in at this moment. "Here is the book you asked me for, Guinn." "Yes, thank you," he said. But he felt a sharp resentment against her. Who was this alien woman who came between him and his love? He looked at her with icy remoteness.

He saw the look of hurt in her eyes, as if she read his inmost thoughts. Her loyal eyes, that had loved him so long!

Sighing, he rose and put away the past. "You look tired, Irene. Have you been doing too much today?" There was a strangeness in her smile, but her tone was quiet, controlled as usual when she answered him. "I'm quite all right, thank you, Lillith, have you everything you need?"

"Yes, Mother." The aloof young voice held her at a distance as always. (To Be Continued.)
